PLANNING STATEMENT

1.10.2024

17 SINCLAIR DRIVE, GLASGOW, G42 9PR

APPEAL TO GLASGOW CITY COUNCIL LOCAL REVIEW COMMITTEE AGAINST THE REFUSAL OF PLANNING PERMISSION FOR THE CHANGE OF USE FROM CAFÉ TO HOT FOOD TAKEAWAY AT THE ABOVE PREMISES.

APPLICATION REF: 24/00725/FUL

01 Background:

The property at 17 Sinclair Drive occupies the ground floor of a four storey red sandstone tenement and is in a row of other commercial uses.

On 31/5/2024 (app Ref 23/00220/FUL) planning permission was granted for the subdivision of the larger class 3 unit into two class 3 units of which the application site is one. The existing café already has a flue on the rear wall though this is in a poor state of repair.

On 16/5/24 an application for planning permission( 24/00725/FUL)was lodged for the change of use of the existing café to a hot food takeaway and replacement of the existing flue.

On 10/7/24 the application was refused.

02 Reasons for Refusal:

In refusing the application, the following reasons are cited:

- The proposal was not in accord with the Development Plan and there were no material considerations which outweighed the proposals variance with the Development Plan.
- The proposed development, due to its location within and adjacent to residential properties and impact on the residential amenity of the surrounding area is contrary to Policy 14 of NPF4 and there is no overriding reasons to depart therefrom.
- The proposed development due to its location within and adjacent to residential amenity of the surrounding area is contrary to Policy 27 of NPF4 and there is no overriding reason to depart therefrom.

The proposed development due to its location within and adjacent to residential properties and impact on residential amenity is contrary to CDP4 Network of Centres and SG4 Network of Centres of the LDP as assessed above and there is no overriding reason to depart therefrom.

In essence the above reasons can be summarized as claiming that the proposed use is not acceptable in this location.

03 Response to reasons for refusal:

In determining an application the planning officer is required to assess the application in the context of the latest and adopted local development plan and other legislation such as National Planning Framework, in this case NPF4.

Within these documents is a wealth of policy guidance and direction providing both guidance and direction to the applicant, and in the case of NPF4, the local authority.

The policy guidance ranges from over arching and all embracing policies which set the context and provide a background, to the more detailed policy guidance to be found on a series of more specific subjects.

The planning officer is then required to produce a Report of Handling(ROH) which should contain a full, comprehensive and concise reason and justification based on the appropriate policies, for the resultant recommendation, in this case, to refuse.

It follows therefore that we need to critically scrutinise and exam that document in order to determine whether or not the correct policies were properly applied, understood and interpretated correctly.

The ROH identifies a series of policies in both NPF4 and the Local Development Plan which it is claimed provided a competent assessment of the application. These are:

NPF4 Policy 12 Zero Waste - It is accepted that particularly with proposals involving food products and waste that an efficient and proper waste management and disposal system must be in place. The ROH states that no details of waste collection were provided which is untrue.

The Planning Statement clearly states that waste will be stored within a dedicated waste facility and that bins will only be placed outside at the appointed time for uplift by the appointed contractor.

NPF4 Policy 13 Sustainable Transport-Development proposals which do not require car parking will be supported.

As the application site is within a defined town centre and is easily accessed by public transport cycling and walking it is accepted that the proposal accords with the policy

NPF4 Policy 14 Design, quality and place- This policy includes the "six qualities of successful places" which are :

Healthy: Prioritisation of women's safety and improving physical and mental health – the proposal ,by introducing another active venue in the street and the splay of light from the widow will help to generate sense of security and safety

Pleasant: Supporting attractive natural and built spaces – this group of units relies on its well being by having no empty units and in contributing to the range of goods and service in the area.

Connected: Supporting well connected networks that make moving around easy and reduce car dependency. The area has a wealth of bus services and has access to rail services. It is easily accessible by foot and by cycling.

Distinctive: Supporting attention to detail of local architectural styles and natural landscapes to reinforce local identity.- The fact that the unit will be occupied contributes to the local identity which is one of vibrancy and vitality.

Sustainable: Supporting the efficient use of resources that will allow people to live, play work and stay in their area. The location of the site is well placed to contribute to all of the above.

Adaptable: Supporting commitment in investing in the long term value of buildings, streets and spaces by allowing for flexibility so that they can be changed to accommodate different uses as well as maintained over time. Fundamental to sustainability is the need to be able to adapt and to change as customs and habits change. The proposed development demonstrates this admirably.

Further, NPF4 Policy 14 also states that developments which are poorly designed, detrimental to the amenity of the surrounding area or are inconsistent with the six qualities of successful places, will not be supported.- The proposal involves the use of an existing building so the design is not an issue, and the measures which have been put in place to ensure residential amenity will be highly effective in achieving that end.

Within the Local Development Plan, Policies CDP1 and SG1 – Placemaking, and CDP4 and SG4 – Network of Centres, reflect and reinforce the above referenced NPF4 policies, so it is not necessary to reiterate these policies.

From all of the above it would appear that the planning officer has concluded that the proposed development, does not accord with these policies ,yet on closer scrutiny many of the requirements of these policies have indeed been met eg., waste management, sustainable transport, design quality and space, odour extraction measures ,hours of operation, the six qualities of successful places as demonstrated above, were all incorporated within the design and in the Planning Statement and all have been accepted and stated as such within the ROH. The only issue outstanding appears to be the question of residential amenity which is a phrase much abused and less easily defined.

It is accepted that in areas where there is a mix of residential and other non-residential uses that there may be tension and conflict between uses. Nevermoreso than in inner city areas where there is a dense concentration of residential and non-residential and space is at a premium.

While recognizing that the site is within an area designated as Battlefield Town Centre, the comments within the Report of Handling(ROH) do not appear to reflect that fact. Policy SG4 Network of Centres, defines the range of centres within the city from the city centre to small local shop groups. It identifies the number of town centres within the city and prescribes a number of criteria for their status, namely that such centres should provide a wide range of goods and services to all of the surrounding area permitting those residents to enjoy the "twenty minute neighbourhood" concept in that all needs should be met within a twenty minute journey time. It is obvious therefore that within the range of services available that hot food takeaways must feature as they are a staple food source in any neighbourhood.

The confusion arises in that the while Policy SG4 of the Local Development Plan and Policy 27 of NPF4 both require that such uses should not be near or adjacent to residential, they fail to recognize the fact that Glasgow is a tenemental city with residential above commercial uses on the ground floor. Indeed the largest percentage of small independent outlets are to be found in this zone and it follows that by virtue of the density of the tenemental stock that the only space for any kind of use is going to be the ground floor. The only other alternative being to construct new small groups of single storey units which is not going to happen. As regards the "twenty minute neighbourhood " concept that can only happen if the ground floor of the tenements is used to its fullest and that surely must include hot food takeaways.

In the ROH this fact appears to have been forgotten and instead of recognizing the measures which will be put in place to ensure that amenity will not suffer, the planner has simply claimed that the site is unsuitable for such a use and ignored the range of failsafe devices which will be incorporated into the development. This is not acceptable. Given that within the Battlefield Town Centre almost every street is a tenemental street, and the town centre is required to provide services for all needs, it follows that properties below tenemental flats must be used for uses such as that proposed but with the proviso that as these are the only sites available for such uses it is necessary to impose a series of conditions that address the potential problem areas, namely noise, odours, smells, heat and refuse management and disposal. The applicant recognizes this fact and has incorporated a range of measure that will ensure that these problems will not impact on residential amenity.

04 Summary:

It is evident from all of the above that the appellant was mindful of the potential amenity issues and incorporated a series of measures into the design all of which have been accepted. Given that this is the case and the appellant has met the required standards to ensure that residential amenity has been protected, there was no sound reason to refuse the application.

As stated at the outset, in a tenemental area the only place where non residential uses can be accommodated is on the ground floor of these buildings hence the range of policies and guidance aimed at ensuring that where any problem with residential amenity might exist, they can be addressed by meeting the requirements of these policies.

If the "twenty minute neighbourhood" is to be achievable and have any value then hot food takeaways in busy neighbourhoods which are simply a fact of life, must be accommodated ,always subject to complying with the aforementioned policies.

The proposed development addressed all the relevant requirements and incorporated a range of measures to ensure that residential amenity was not impugned and accordingly, should have been approved.

In the circumstances we would ask that the decision to refuse be overturned and the application approved.
