Govan Thriving Places – Details noted.

4 There was submitted a report by Head of Policy and Corporate Governance, regarding Govan Thriving Places, advising

(1) of the priorities identified by the community via door-to-door surveys and community engagements;

(2) of the 7 thematic groups who continued to meet on a regular basis and continued to respond to demand and needs expressed by the community providing organisations with a mechanism which efficiently shared information and worked in partnership with each other and the community, as detailed in the report;

(3) of the community connector role which had contributed to the success thus far by supporting community development work to foster better working relationships and connections and created community cohesion where possible, as detailed in appendix 1;

(4) of the next steps, including a number of consultive sessions facilitated by the Council's Centre for Civic Innovation, as detailed in the report; and

(5) that all key stakeholders would be invited to the outcomes of work to be presented to the next meeting of the Steering Group of Govan Thriving Places, scheduled to take place at 10am on 11th October 2023, at a venue still to be confirmed.

After consideration, the Partnership

(a) noted the report;

(b) raised concerns regarding the absence of input from community groups as no meetings had taken place following the COVID-19 pandemic;

(c) of the work that had taken place in Thriving Places and the difficulties in securing funding to allow proposals to move forward; and

(d) requested that a community connector meet with Drumoyne Community Council to discuss Thriving Places further.
