Collaborative improvement – Update noted.

4 There was submitted a report by the Executive Director of Education Services regarding the Learning Community Joint Support Team's (LCJST) Collaborative Improvement activity, advising that

(1) the LCJST had existed for the past 25 years, and was made up of officers from Education Services and Glasgow City Health and Social Care Partnership;

(2) Collaborative Improvement was an approach to bring about improvement through shared working and involved external teams from Education Scotland and the Association of Directors of Education who worked with the local authority to review part or all the educaiton authority functions;

(3) that Education Services had offered to be a part of a Collaborative Improvement activity which allowed the opportunity to look at LCJST and how the impact it had on children and young people could be improved;

(4) through the planning and evidence gathering process which had been carried out in June 2022, 4 themes had been identifed as areas for improvement in relation to the LCJST; and

(5) the overall experience of the Collaborative Improvement activity had been positive, and that colleagues involved in this activity had found it extremely beneficial in relation to the challenge and support from a range of colleagues both within and out with Glasgow.

After consideration, the committee noted the contents of the Learning Community Joint Support Team Collaborative Improvement Visit report as outlined in the appendix to the report.
