Events Action Plan 2024 to 2027 Supporting the Glasgow Events Strategy 2035

Strategic Focus

The Events Action Plan 2024-27 sets out to support the delivery of the Glasgow Events Strategy 2035. The Strategy is structured around three strategic priorities:

- 1. The rights events for Glasgow
- 2. Great to do business with
- 3. Protect today and tomorrow.

Strategic priorities: contributing to Glasgow's wider economic, social and community aims.

Existing city strategies have identified where Glasgow is best to focus its attention to achieve wider economic, social and community aims. To be well-delivered, events also rely on many of the same things that make everyday life enjoyable: accessible parks and venues, reliable public transport, safe and clean streets, a supported workforce, and a thriving natural environment.

Events will not achieve these things alone, but they can be a key driver. There is great advantage in focusing efforts on shared aims to make change happen. Given the symbiotic relationship events have with other aspects of city life, this strategy has been developed with wider strategies in mind.

Glasgow City Council Strategic Plan 2022-2027

Events can contribute directly to the four Grand Challenges noted within this strategic plan:

- Reduce poverty and inequality in our communities.
- Increase opportunity and prosperity for all our citizens.
- Fight the climate emergency in a just transition to a net zero Glasgow.
- Enable staff to deliver essential services in a sustainable, innovative, and efficient way for our communities.

Council's Strategic Plan also includes missions which are relevant for events:

- Support Glasgow to be a city that is active and culturally vibrant.
- Support the growth of an innovative, resilient, and net zero carbon economy.

Glasgow 2030 Tourism Strategy

Festivals, concerts, live music, and major events as lead drivers of visitation – so growing Glasgow's event sector will also increase the economic value of tourism. City amenities, creating attractive places for people to spend time in, and city centre placemaking are shared conditions of success. So too, the importance of expanding and upgrading facilities for major events, stepping up sustainability and accessibility, developing an events calendar that appeals to visitors and local people throughout the year, and celebrating the city's diverse communities.

The principles for delivery within the Tourism Strategy also fully align with the Glasgow Events Strategy 2035:

- Everyone is included all initiatives provide space and opportunities for those with disabilities and for those experiencing poorer economic outcomes to participate and contribute fully.
- We take a Team Glasgow approach, with ever closer collaboration between public and commercial sectors.
- Glasgow's people are informed and engaged in decisions on tourism development that affect them.

Wider UK and Scottish events strategies

Glasgow's intent is to look for areas of alignment in the priorities of UK Sport, Glasgow, and EventScotland for the largest events. UK Sport's priorities are being renewed but are expected to remain focused on driving wider outcomes, beyond economic and sport. Scotland's National Events Strategy 2024–2035 has a specific focus on developing a responsible events sector that contributes to Scotland's wellbeing economy, with an inclusive portfolio for participants, workforce, communities, and visitors. There are also areas of shared interest for developing, measuring, monitoring, and reporting impacts to establish and demonstrate progress. Wherever possible, this strategy for Glasgow aims to use complementary measures, structures, and policies.

Glasgow Events Strategy Action Plan 2024-27

The table below includes the three strategic priorities of the strategy. Under each heading a brief explanation of the priority and why it is important is provided, followed by a high-level overview of how it will be achieved and what success will look like over the 10-year period. Then, in broad terms, actions to be undertaken over the first period, 2024-2027: what the immediate actions are, delivered by whom and when.

The left-hand column highlights the lead organisation for the action/s in bold. Any supporting partners are listed underneath. For ease, we have used abbreviations to represent the key participant partners:

- GL Glasgow Life
- GEB Glasgow Events Board
- GESIG Glasgow Events Sector Industry Group
- ES EventScotland
- UKS UK Sport
- GCC Glasgow City Council
- AA AccessAble
- CoC Glasgow Chamber of Commerce

STRATEGIC PRIORITY ONE – The right events for Glasgow

Priority One	The right events for Glasgow
What this means	A deliberate portfolio mix of community, commercial and publicly funded events across genres and of varying scale to meet the needs of citizens and the city's strategic priorities while recognising the resource challenges facing the city.
	The portfolio continues to drive economic impact, visitation and international profile but ensures that events are accessible for, and connected to Glasgow's citizens.
	The City's unique selling point is Glasgow and Glaswegians. Connection to both the city and its citizens will be what defines 'the right events.'
We will do this by	Working with the commercial sector so that its businesses can succeed, while also adding wider value to Glasgow.
	Choosing publicly funded events to achieve city outcomes, and national priorities for the largest events.
	Ensuring that events delivered by and for communities are representative of Glasgow's citizens.
	Continuing to prioritise events that drive economic value and/or international profile.
	Ensuring every event has principles of equality, diversity and inclusion embedded in design and delivery.
	Creating a portfolio that reflects a spread of events by type, impact, time of year and location.
	Encouraging different models of event delivery to integrate commercial funding opportunities into events.
Success looks like	A regular pipeline of new and/or major events
	An industry which prides itself on aligning to the culture and identity of Glasgow
	Clarity and visibility of criteria and process for event selection for public funding and use of public spaces to support the vision.
	A range of positive impacts including visitation, economic, international profile, and social impact.
	A city that looks within, and to its diverse cultural communities, as well as outside to develop and fund its event portfolio.
	A portfolio spread across the year, genres, and Glasgow's communities.

A portfolio with broad appeal for the diverse people of Glasgow as well as visitors

A city where events are good for Glasgow, and benefit Scotland.

A portfolio where event organisers have considered and planned legacy as part of their event delivery.

STRATEGIC PRIORITY TWO – Great to do business with

Priority Two	Great to do business with
What this means	An integrated and cohesive industry ensures a clear and supported path to successful event delivery, which is well communicated to all stakeholders, including Glasgow's citizens
We will do this by	Telling the relevant story to businesses and citizens about the benefits that events bring to Glasgow.
	Maintaining a user-friendly, relationship-driven process, which connects event organisers with the public sector for all aspects of event delivery.
	Providing dedicated facilitation support to manage regulatory and compliance for complex events and a clear process for all event types.
	Ensuring public funding to support the vision is distributed with clear criteria and fair processes, providing clarity for decision-making.
	Maintaining and promoting Glasgow's suite of event venues and public spaces so they are well known and accessible for event organisers and attendees.
	Enabling every event delivered in Glasgow to support this strategy - from the supply chain and public sector policy, through to marketing and leveraging
Success looks like	Clear and shared vision for events in Glasgow stated clearly in the Strategy and understood.
	An integrated industry partnership which is cohesive, collaborative, and resilient.
	Increased economic activity by maximising the generation of income for businesses in Glasgow and creating and sustaining jobs and prosperity.
	Clearly identified roles and responsibilities with a user-friendly, relationship driven process for new events.
	Work as a partner with new and existing event organisers to maximise benefits for all of the city.
	Streamlined, accessible and transparent processes, while still maintaining safe event environments.
