Purpose of our report

This [Provisional] Annual audit report, prepared for the benefit of senior management and the West of Scotland Archaeology Service (“the Service”) sets out results of our audit of the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2024.

| Financial Statements

We have concluded our audit of the Service’s financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2024. There were two unadjusted misstatements above our reporting threshold that we are required to communicate. The draft financial statements were presented to the Joint Committee in August 2024 and supporting working papers were provided in line with the agreed audit timetable. While the audit was substantially completed to the agreed timetable, delays were incurred for completion due to the lack of governance arrangements. We have raised a recommendation relating to these delays within Appendix F.

We have made one recommendation around supporting improved preparation of the financial statements going forward.

We concluded that the other information subject to audit, including the Annual Governance Statement were appropriate.

We were satisfied that the disclosures reflect the Service’s compliance with the Code of Practice on Local Authority Accounting in the United Kingdom 2023/24 (the CIPFA Code), although we have maintained open a prior year recommendation that management should complete the Disclosure Checklist for the Code requirements while preparing the Financial Statements.

| Going concern

In accordance with the International

Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), the Service prepares its financial statements on a going concern basis unless informed by the Scottish Government.

Under a revised auditing standard, ISA 570, we are required to undertake greater challenge of management’s assessment of going concern, including testing of the adequacy of the supporting evidence we obtained. After completing its going concern assessment, the Service has concluded that there are no material uncertainties around its going concern status.

We were satisfied that the Service remains a going concern and has made appropriate required disclosures in the financial statements. We have considered the related risks to the financial sustainability of the Service and its longer-term delivery of strategic objectives in our wider scope reporting.

We have no matters to report in respect of our work around going concern or the conclusions reached by the Service.

| Independence

We confirm that we have undertaken client and engagement acceptance procedures, including our assessment of our independence to act as your external auditor. Further information is available in Appendix B.

| Subsequent Events

We will undertake enquiries with management in respect of subsequent events arising since 31 March 2024 relating to the West of Scotland Archaeology Service. In addition, we invite Committee members to notify us of any events since the balance sheet date that they are aware of.

1. Executive summary: Key conclusions from our 2023-24 audit (continued)

In line with the Audit Scotland Code of Audit Practice (2021), we have determined the Service meets the definition of a less complex body. The audit of the wider-scope and Best Value in an audited body which meets the definition of a less complex body under the CIPFA Code may be limited to:

- a review of the Annual Governance Statement;
- concluding on the financial sustainability of the body and the services that it delivers over the medium to longer term and;
- for local government bodies, reporting on the arrangements for securing Best Value.

We summarise the conclusions we reached in response to our work on the wider scope dimensions below.

| Financial Sustainability

The Service reported a deficit of £8,305 in 2023/24, resulting in a reserves balance of £148,920 being carried forward into 2024/25. This remains considerably in excess of the amount recommended by the Reserves Policy, representing 155% of the figure proposed as an appropriate financial reserve in the most recent review of the Service's Reserves Policy, and at a level which is likely to require further reduction in the future.

The Service continue to provide opportunities and support for the Region's business and communities over its lifetime to 31 March 2035.

| Vision, Leadership and Governance

The Governance Statement outlines a number of key governance matters within the year, each of which poses significant risk and exposure to the entity.

Management's review of the Service's key strategic documents remain out of date and require updating. In addition, a lack of clarity over future member authority contributions presents challenges for future financial planning. Furthermore, the 2023/24 financial statements will be approved more than 17 months after the local government deadline due to a lack of governance meetings.

Internal Audit issued the opinion that limited assurance can be placed upon the adequacy and effectiveness of the governance and control environment during 2023/24.

| Best Value

We are required to conclude on the Service's arrangements to demonstrate the achievement of Best Value. While we have no matters to raise specifically in relation to Best Value, the Service needs to take action in relation to the governance matters raised throughout this report and the Annual Governance Statement in order to secure and demonstrate best value.

2. Financial Statement Audit

Financial Statements audit

The financial statements provide the Service with an opportunity to demonstrate accountability for the resources that it controls, and report on its overall performance in the application of those resources during the year.

This section of our report summarises the audit work undertaken to support our audit opinion, including our conclusions in response to the significant and other risks identified in our Annual Audit Plan.

The plan highlighted one area that we identified as a significant risk of material misstatement or fraud risk:

- the risk of fraud in revenue and expenditure recognition (fraud risk).

Compliance with Regulations

As part of our oversight of the Service's financial reporting process, we report on our consideration of the quality of working papers and supporting documentation prepared, predominantly by the finance team, to support the audit.

The financial statements were prepared in accordance with the CIPFA code, IFRSs, as interpreted and adapted by the 2023/24 Code and the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973, The Local Authority Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2014, and the Local Government in Scotland Act 2003.

Management provided draft financial statements in line with the agreed timetable. The financial statements have been updated in line with the requirements of the CIPFA Code through matters identified in the audit. We have recommended the completion of a financial statements' disclosure checklist in the prior year, and this has remained a recommendation for 2023/24.

We have discussed with management ensuring that arrangements are in place going forward that the Local Government reporting timetable is met, and specifically that the governance arrangements are aligned to the September reporting deadlines for audited accounts. Refer to recommendations at Appendix F.

Our review and reassessment of materiality

Our Annual Audit Plan explained that our audit procedures would be performed using a materiality of £3,700. We reassessed our materiality based on the Service's financial statement for the year 2023/24. As a result of this reassessment, our materiality has remained at £3,700.

We consider misstatements greater than 2% of the gross expenditure to be material. Our evaluation requires professional judgement and so takes into account qualitative as well as quantitative considerations.

Our key considerations and materiality values are set out in Exhibit 1, on the following page.

Audit Status

We have completed our audit of the Service financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2024 and have performed the procedures outlined in our Audit Planning Report.

2. Financial Statement Audit (continued)

Exhibit 1: Materiality Assessment in 2023/24

Element	Explanation	Value
Year-end materiality	The amount over which we anticipate misstatements would influence the economic decisions of a user of the financial statements. This represents 2% (PY: 2%) of the Service's Gross Expenditure.	£3,700
Performance materiality	Materiality at an individual account balance, which is set to reduce the risk that the aggregate of uncorrected and undetected misstatements exceeds Year-end Materiality to an acceptably low level. We have set it at 75% (PY: 50%) of planning materiality. This level reflects our risk assessment for an initial audit.	£2,700
Reporting Level	The amount below which misstatements whether individually or accumulated with other misstatements, would not have a material effect on the financial statements.	£180

Specific Materiality

We consider all accounts and disclosures within the financial statements individually to ensure an appropriate materiality is used. In determining their materiality, we consider both the quantitative and qualitative factors that could drive materiality for the users of the financial statements. Accordingly, we determine it is appropriate to use lower levels of materiality for some areas of the financial statements, including:

1. Remuneration disclosure - given the sensitivity around the disclosure of senior staff remuneration we applied a lower materiality threshold to our audit consideration around the remuneration report and related disclosures.
2. Related party transactions - which are considered material when they are material to either party in the transaction. We did not apply a specific materiality but consider each transaction individually.

2. Financial Statement Audit (continued)

| Our response to significant risks

Risk of fraud in income and expenditure recognition, including through management override of control

As we outlined in our Annual Audit Plan, misstatements that occur in relation to the risk of fraud in income and expenditure recognition could affect the expenditure accounts.

Under ISA 240 there is a presumed risk that income may be misstated due to improper recognition of income. In the public sector, this requirement is modified by Practice Note 10, issued by the Financial Reporting Council, which means we also consider the risk that material misstatements may occur by the manipulation of expenditure recognition.

As identified in ISA (UK) 240, management is in a unique position to perpetrate fraud because of its ability to manipulate accounting records directly or indirectly and prepare fraudulent financial statements by overriding controls that otherwise appear to be operating effectively.

We have identified a risk around income and expenditure recognition, specifically the accounting for contributions from participating authorities and subsequent expenditure in the correct accounting period and in line with the terms and conditions of those transactions.

| Our approach and findings

We undertook the following specific procedures:

- Inquired of management about risks of fraud and the controls to address those risks;
- Considered the effectiveness of management's controls designed to address the risk of fraud;

- Understood the oversight given by those charged with governance of management's processes over fraud;
- Considered the effectiveness of management's controls designed to address the risk of fraud; and
- Performed additional testing on income and expenditure incurred closer to the financial yearend.

We also performed mandatory procedures regardless of specifically identified fraud risks, including:

- Substantively tested income and expenditure transactions as appropriate and material;
- Tested the appropriateness of journal entries recorded in the general ledger and other adjustments made in the preparation of the financial statements;
- Assessed accounting estimates for evidence of management bias; and
- Evaluated the business rationale for significant unusual transactions.

Our testing identified two unadjusted misstatements relating to income recognition, as outlined in Appendix D of this report.

2. Financial Statement Audit (continued)

| Testing of journal entries

We tested the appropriateness of journal entries recorded and other adjustments made in the preparation of the financial statements.

We obtained a full list of journals posted during the year to identify potentially unusual journals based on posting patterns, amounts or areas of greater risk of judgement or incentive for management to adjust according to our identified risk areas for the audit. We evaluated the business rationale for any significant unusual transactions. In particular, we considered:

- Journal entries made to key accounts which are considered more likely to have an incentive to be manipulated;
- Journals entries made around year end.

We identified no unusual journals which could not be explained by management, or which indicated any additional risk of fraud.

| Judgements and Estimates

There are no material accounting estimates included in the financial statements that have a direct impact of the Service's financial statements.

| Accounting policies

We considered the consistency and application of accounting policies, and the overall presentation of financial information. We consider the accounting policies adopted by the Service to be appropriate. There were no significant accounting practices which materially depart from what is acceptable under the CIPFA code.

We have not identified any material weaknesses in the design and implementation of controls around journal processing. We did not identify any instances of evidence of management override of controls.

| Remuneration disclosure

The Service should prepare a remuneration report or disclosure in line with the CIPFA Code requirements. The Service does not directly employ any members of staff, with all services provided by Glasgow City Council's staff on a secondment basis. However, the disclosure includes details of remuneration of key management personnel of the Service.

| Related parties disclosure

The Service is a Service comprising twelve participating local authorities or member authorities. Glasgow City Council (GCC) is the administering body responsible for the Service.

2. Financial Statement Audit (continued)

ISA 315

ISA 315 deals with the auditor's responsibility to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement in the financial statements. Increased scope in risk identification and assessment to promote better responses to the identified risks with:

- Increased focus on understanding the IT environment – for all audits regardless of audit strategy;
- New requirement to identify IT applications and the associated IT risks and evaluate the IT general controls;
- Specific requirements for inherent risk assessments;
- Strengthened audit documentation requirements.

The Service's IT environment is supported by Glasgow City Council which is the administering body responsible for the Service.

We identified IT processes that support the relevant IT applications and other IT environment components.

An IT process is defined as a set of activities that are performed to enable an IT environment to meet the needs of the business (e.g., making a change to software, providing and removing the access of users, monitoring the operation of computer programs).

As part of procedures performed we did not identify control deficiencies that are considered to be significant deficiencies. We did however note that an ongoing ICT issue at Glasgow City Council has been highlighted by the Chief Internal Auditor within the Annual Governance Statement.

The Council is working with the ICT provider to complete a lessons learned review. The impact on the Service was limited, with manual processes being implemented to prevent any delays to payments.

Given the simple nature of the Service's accounting activity, including the small volume of transactions and lack of complexity in accounting arrangements, we do not anticipate any issues in internal control environment in light of ISA 315.

| Going concern

International Auditing Standard 570 Going Concern, as applied by Practice Note 10: Audit of financial statements of public sector bodies in the United Kingdom, requires auditors to undertake sufficient and appropriate audit procedures to consider whether there is a material uncertainty on going concern that requires reporting by management within the financial statements, and within the auditor's report.

The Service prepares its financial statements on a going concern basis.

Management's going concern assessment and associated disclosures cover the period following approval of the financial statements. After completing its going concern assessment the Service has concluded that there are no material uncertainties around its going concern status.

We have outlined our consideration of the Service's financial position going forward in the financial sustainability section of this report. We considered this in conjunction with management's assessment on going concern, focusing on:

- The completeness of factors considered in management's going concern assessment.
- The completeness of disclosures in the financial statements in relation to going concern and future financial pressures and how savings challenges in the short and medium term will be addressed.

We concur with management's assessment that there are no material uncertainties in relation to the going concern of the Service.

3. Wider Scope Dimensions

Introduction

In line with the Audit Scotland Code of Audit Practice (2021), we have determined the Service meets the definition of a less complex public body. The audit of the wider-scope and Best Value in an audited body which meets the definition of a less complex body under the CIPFA Code may be limited to:

- a review of the Annual Governance Statement;
- concluding on the financial sustainability of the body and the services that it delivers over the medium to longer term and;
- for local government bodies, reporting on the arrangements for securing Best Value.

We are required to reach conclusions in relation to the effectiveness and appropriateness of the Service's arrangements for the two wider scope audit dimensions for less complex-public sector bodies in Scotland.

We apply our professional judgement to risk assess and focus our work on each of the wider scope dimensions. For each of the dimensions, we have applied a RAG rating, which represents our assessment on the adequacy of the Service's arrangements throughout the year, as well as the overall areas of improvement and future risk associated with each dimension.

- Financial Sustainability: Considers the medium and longer term outlook to determine if planning is effective to support future activity.
- Vision, strategy and Governance: Considers the effectiveness of scrutiny and governance arrangements and the transparent reporting of financial and performance information, in particular through the Annual Governance Statement.

We are required to comment on how effectively, in our view, the Service demonstrates that it meets its Best Value responsibilities. The conclusions that we reach on the wider scope areas contribute to this consideration. We expect to develop our understanding of how the Service meets its Best Value responsibilities over the course of our appointment.

Our assessment in 2023/24 therefore reflects the work conducted to support our wider scope responsibilities.

3. Wider Scope Dimensions (continued)

Financial Sustainability

Our overall assessment:
Green

The Service reported a small deficit of £8,305 to be carried forward to 2024/25 (2022/23: £6,203 deficit carried forward to 2023/24). We were satisfied that the Service's financial monitoring and reporting was clear and consistent throughout the year.

The Service has established budget monitoring arrangements.

The Service continue to provide opportunities and support for the Region's business and communities over its lifetime to 31 March 2035.

Financial performance and monitoring

The main financial objective of the Service is to ensure that the financial outturn of the Project Management Office (PMO) for the year is within the agreed budget.

The Service reported a small deficit of £8,305 which was carried forward to 2024/25 (2022/23: £6,203 deficit carried forward to 2023/24).

Carrying forward the deficit resulted in a reserves balance of £148,920 as at 31 March 2024. This remains considerably in excess of the amount recommended by the Reserves Policy, representing 155% of the figure proposed as an appropriate financial reserve in the most recent review of the Service's Reserves Policy, and at a level which is likely to require further reduction in the future.

Long-term financial planning

In terms of longer-term financial planning, the budget is set annually and there is no medium to long-term financial strategy. This is deemed to be appropriate given the small and non-complex nature of the entity. The fact that the Service is funded from member contributions means that there is more security over future funding compared to other public sector bodies. The service has carried forward reserves from prior years and therefore has headroom for additional expenditure should it materialise. However, we note that the Minute of Agreement which sets out the operating structure of the Service is outdated and currently under review. This makes financial planning more challenging given there is uncertainty over future member contributions and the operating model of the Service.

3. Wider Scope Dimensions (continued)

Vision, Leadership and Governance

Our overall assessment:
Red

Annual Governance Statement

The key aspects of governance arrangements require to be disclosed in the Annual Governance Statement within the financial statements. We reviewed the governance statement against the requirements in accordance with Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Framework (2016).

This includes the requirements to conclude on the Service's compliance with Local Authority Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2014, or to explain any areas of non-compliance. Our consideration of the governance statement has included:

- Ensuring that the Service has met all requirements of the CIPFA Code; and
- Ensuring that the content of the statement is consistent with our understanding of the Service's governance arrangements and any issues identified during the year.

We were satisfied that it was consistent with both the governance framework, key findings from relevant audit activity and management's assessment of its own compliance with the CIPFA Code.

The Governance Statement outlines a number of key governance issues within the year, including the loss of the original legal agreement between Glasgow City Council and the relevant member authorities, and several IT matters at the Council which have impacted the Service. Each of these matters poses significant risk and exposure to the entity.

Management's review of the Service's key strategic documents remain out of date and require updating, including the Minute of Agreement, Business Plan and Service Level Agreements. In addition, a lack of clarity over future member authority contributions presents challenges for future financial planning. Furthermore, the 2023/24 financial statements will be approved more than 17 months after the local government deadline. As outlined in our recommendations at Appendix F, there is a need for robust management and an effective governance timetable to bring the Service back into compliance.

Internal audit activity in the year

Internal audit's opinion for the year was based on its agreed audit plan, as approved by the Service. Internal audit services are provided by Internal audit of Glasgow City Council and all planned assignments were completed during the year.

Internal Audit issued the opinion that limited assurance can be placed upon the adequacy and effectiveness of the governance and control environment during 2023/24.

The Service disclosed within the Annual Governance Statement that no significant governance issues have been reported by the Internal Auditor.

Systems of internal control

Within the Annual Governance Statement, the Service has concluded that limited assurance can be placed on the system of internal control during the year, with a number of matters listed with the Governance Statement to be material to this conclusion.

Through our audit of the financial statements, we consider the design and implementation of key controls related to areas of significant risk to the financial statements. This work has included documenting the key internal financial controls and performing walkthroughs to ensure controls are implemented as designed.

We undertook an initial assessment of the financial control environment as part of our planning work in April 2024, and updated our understanding as part of the year-end audit. Our work did not identify any significant weaknesses in the Service's systems of internal control. We have previously noted a number of ongoing matters at the Council which have the potential to impact the systems of internal control at the Service. However, this is mitigated by the simple nature of the Service activity, including the small volume of transactions and lack of complexity in accounting arrangements. On this basis we consider the system of internal controls to be effective.

Audited Body Responsibilities

Audited bodies have the primary responsibility for ensuring the proper financial stewardship of public funds, compliance with relevant legislation and establishing effective arrangements for governance, propriety and regularity that enable them to successfully deliver their objectives. The features of proper financial stewardship include the following:

Corporate governance

Each body, through its chief executive or accountable officer, is responsible for establishing arrangements to ensure the proper conduct of its affairs including the legality of activities and transactions, and for monitoring the adequacy and effectiveness of these arrangements. Audited bodies should involve those charged with governance (including audit committees or equivalent) in monitoring these arrangements.

Financial statements and related reports

Audited bodies must prepare annual accounts comprising financial statements and other related reports. They have responsibility for:

- preparing financial statements which give a true and fair view of their financial position and their expenditure and income, in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework and relevant legislation;
- maintaining accounting records and working papers that have been prepared to an acceptable professional standard and that support their accounts and related reports disclosures;
- ensuring the regularity of transactions, by putting in place systems of internal control to ensure that they are in accordance with the appropriate authority

- preparing and publishing, along with their financial statements, related reports such as an annual governance statement, management commentary (or equivalent) and a remuneration report in accordance with prescribed requirements
- ensuring that the management commentary (or equivalent) is fair, balanced and understandable.

It is the responsibility of management of an audited body, with the oversight of those charged with governance, to communicate relevant information to users about the entity and its financial performance, including providing adequate disclosures in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. The relevant information should be communicated clearly and concisely.

Audited bodies are responsible for developing and implementing effective systems of internal control as well as financial, operational and compliance controls. These systems should support the achievement of their objectives and safeguard and secure value for money from the public funds at their disposal. They are also responsible for establishing effective and appropriate internal audit and risk-management functions.

Standards of conduct for prevention and detection of fraud and error

Audited bodies are responsible for establishing arrangements for the prevention and detection of fraud, error and irregularities, bribery and corruption and to ensure that their affairs are managed in accordance with proper standards of conduct by putting proper arrangements in place.

Maintaining a sound financial position

Audited bodies are responsible for putting in place proper arrangements to ensure that their financial position is soundly based having regard to:

- such financial monitoring and reporting arrangements as may be specified;
- compliance with any statutory financial requirements and achievement of financial targets;
- balances and reserves, including strategies about levels and their future use;
- how they plan to deal with uncertainty in the medium and longer term; and
- the impact of planned future policies and foreseeable developments on their financial position.

Responsibilities for Best Value, community planning and performance

Local government bodies have a duty to make arrangements to secure Best Value. Best Value is defined as continuous improvement in the performance of the body's functions. In securing Best Value, the local government body is required to maintain an appropriate balance among:

- the quality of its performance of its functions
- the cost to the body of that performance
- the cost to persons of any service provided by it for them on a wholly or partly rechargeable basis.

In maintaining that balance, the local government body shall have regard to:

- efficiency
- effectiveness

- economy
- the need to meet the equal opportunity requirements.

The local government body shall discharge its duties under this section in a way which contributes to the achievement of sustainable development.

In measuring the improvement of the performance of a local government body's functions for the purposes of this section, regard shall be had to the extent to which the outcomes of that performance have improved.

The Scottish Government's Statutory Guidance on Best Value (2020) requires bodies to demonstrate that they are delivering Best Value in respect of seven themes:

1. Vision and leadership
2. Governance and accountability
3. Effective use of resources
4. Partnerships and collaborative working
5. Working with communities
6. Sustainability
7. Fairness and equality.

The Community Empowerment (Scotland) Act 2015 is designed to help empower community bodies through the ownership or control of land and buildings, and by strengthening their voices in decisions about public services.

Specified audited bodies are required to prepare and publish performance information in accordance with Directions issued by the Accounts Commission.

Internal audit

Public sector bodies are required to establish an internal audit function as a support to management in maintaining effective systems of control and performance. With the exception of less complex public bodies the internal audit programme of work is expected to comply with the Public Sector Internal Audit Standards and, other than local government, requirements set out in the Scottish Public Finance Manual.

Internal audit and external audit have differing roles and responsibilities. External auditors may seek to rely on the work of internal audit as appropriate.

Appointed Auditors' Responsibilities

Appointed auditors' statutory duties for local government bodies are contained within Part VII of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973, as amended.

These are to:

- audit the accounts and place a certificate (i.e. an independent auditor's report) on the accounts stating that the audit has been conducted in accordance with Part VII of the Act;
- satisfy themselves, by examination of the accounts and otherwise, that:
 - the accounts have been prepared in accordance with all applicable statutory requirements
 - proper accounting practices have been observed in the preparation of the accounts
- the body has made proper arrangements for securing Best Value and is complying with its community planning duties;

- hear any objection to the financial statements lodged by an interested person.

Appointed auditors should also be familiar with the statutory reporting responsibilities in section 102 of the Local Government (Scotland) Act 1973, including those relating to the audit of the accounts of a local government body.

Appendix B: Independence and audit quality

Introduction

The FRC Ethical Standard and ISA (UK) 260 'Communication of audit matters with those charged with governance', requires us to communicate with you on a timely basis on all significant facts and matters that bear upon our integrity, objectivity and independence. The Ethical Standard, as revised in December 2019, requires that we communicate formally both at the planning stage and at the conclusion of the audit, as well as during the course of the audit if appropriate. The aim is to ensure full and fair disclosure by us to those charged with your governance on matters in which you have an interest.

During the course of the audit, we are required to communicate with you whenever any significant judgements are made about threats to objectivity and independence and the appropriateness of safeguards put in place, for example, when accepting an engagement to provide non-audit services.

We ensure that the total amount of fees that EY charged to you for the provision of services during the period, analysed in appropriate categories, are disclosed.

Required Communications

Final Stage

- To allow you to assess the integrity, objectivity and independence of the firm and each covered person, we are required to provide a written disclosure of relationships (including the provision of non-audit services) that may bear on our integrity, objectivity and independence. This is required to have regard to relationships with the entity, its directors and senior management, and its connected parties and the threats to integrity or objectivity, including those that could compromise independence that these create. We are also required to disclose any safeguards that we have put in place and why they address such threats, together with any other information necessary to enable our objectivity and independence to be assessed;

- Details of non-audit/additional services provided and the fees charged in relation thereto;
- Written confirmation that the firm and each covered person is independent and, if applicable, that any non-EY firms used in the group audit or external experts used have confirmed their independence to us;
- Details of all breaches of the IESBA Code of Ethics, the FRC Ethical Standard and professional standards, and of any safeguards applied and actions taken by EY to address any threats to independence;
- Details of any inconsistencies between FRC Ethical Standard and your policy for the supply of non-audit services by EY and any apparent breach of that policy; and
- An opportunity to discuss auditor independence issues.

Confirmations

We are not aware of any inconsistencies between the Service's policy for the supply of non-audit services and FRC Ethical Standard. We are not aware of any apparent breach of that policy.

We confirm that, in our professional judgment, Ernst & Young is independent, our integrity and objectivity is not compromised and we have complied with the FRC Ethical Standard.

We confirm that your engagement team (partner, senior manager and all others involved with the audit) and others within the firm, the firm and network firms have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence.

Audit fees

	2023/24	2022/23
Component of fee:
Total agreed auditor remuneration	£TBD	£2,390
Additional audit procedures (see below)	£TBD	£TBD
Audit Scotland fixed charges:
Total fee	£TBD	£2,390

The expected fee for each body, set by Audit Scotland, assumes that it has sound governance arrangements in place and operating effectively throughout the year, prepares comprehensive and accurate draft financial statements and meets the agreed timetable for the audit. It also assumes there is no major change in respect of the scope of work in the year.

Given the delays in arrangements to conclude the financial statements for 2023/24, communications with management are ongoing to agree the fee for 2023/24. These will be confirmed within our finalised Audit Report when it is submitted to Audit Scotland.
